Subject: eAPIS Private Aircraft Newsletter

Date: Tuesday, January 25, 2011, 11:23 AM

Dear eAPIS user,

Because we have received many common questions, we at The United States Customs and Border Protection (CBP) Private Aircraft APIS Office are working to address current issues and frequently asked questions through a newsletter format. The information is intended to assist private aircraft pilots in preparing and submitting Advance Passenger Information System (APIS) manifests by addressing common mistakes, best practices, and regulatory requirements.

The Private Aircraft eAPIS Newsletter is being published through the collaborative efforts of partnering aviation trade organizations. The contributors for this newsletter are:

AOPA – Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association

COPA – Canadian Owners and Pilots Association

NBAA – National Business Aviation Association

Thanks to all these organizations for their continued partnership and assistance. In this newsletter, CBP is addressing the following topics:

- 1) Password – Why is my password not working?
- 2) System Lock-out – I've been locked out of eAPIS, what do I do?
- 3) How far in advance can I submit a manifest?
- 4) As the pilot of a private aircraft, do I have to submit the APIS manifest myself?

Passwords – Do they expire? How do I change or reset my password?

Yes, for system security reasons, your eAPIS password must be reset at least every 90 days.

Changing or resetting your password is simple and only takes about 5 minutes to complete.

If your password has expired, you have forgotten it, or otherwise need to change your password, a new password can be created by completing the following steps:

1. From the eAPIS Welcome page, select the link "Reset your password".
2. On the reset password page, enter your sender ID, primary contact e-mail address, and a new password.

Remember, your password must:

- begin with a number;
- be between eight and twelve characters in length;
- and contain one of the following special characters such as: ~ ! @ # $ %

Your password can not contain your sender ID and no character can be repeated consecutively more than two times.

It is important for you to remember your password as it cannot be retrieved from the system.

3. After you have selected save, an activation key will be sent to the email address associated with your eAPIS account. For private aviation eAPIS accounts, the activation key is sent systematically within seconds. (Commercial eAPIS accounts may take up to 48 hours.)

4. Once you have received your activation key, you may go to the eAPIS Welcome page and "Log-In" using your eAPIS Sender ID and newly created password (do not enter the activation key in place of the password, this is a common mistake).

5. The final step of resetting your password is entering the applicable activation key.

System Lock-out – I've been locked out of eAPIS, what do I do?

To safeguard users from unauthorized access, eAPIS initiates a 10-minute lock-out period after 3 mistaken password attempts. If you wait 10 minutes, the system will let you try again.

Common reasons for mistaken password attempts and lock-outs:

Accidental entries (incorrectly typing your password);

CAPS lock is on (your password is case-sensitive, please ensure your CAPS lock is off); and,

Ensure you are using your most recently created password.

Remember, if you have forgotten your password, you may reset it using the steps outlined in the previous topic.

How far in advance can I submit a manifest?

CBP regulations require private aircraft pilots transmit an APIS manifest no later than 60 minutes prior to departure. Because no maximum timeframe is set, CBP recommends that pilots of private aircraft not wait until 60 minutes prior to the departure before transmitting the APIS manifest. In fact, CBP recommends that pilots transmit the APIS manifest as soon as flight details and the traveler list are clearly determined.

This advice is often useful for pilots who are departing for a place where internet access may not be available. Pilots' leaving the United States for a Caribbean island where internet access is known to be unpredictable, or those flying into the Canadian wilderness where internet access is nonexistent, are encouraged to submit both manifests (departure and subsequent arrival) before their initial departure from the United States. Even pilots flying into the United States where internet access is more predictable utilize this practice.

As the pilot of a private aircraft, do I have to submit the APIS manifest myself?

No. While the pilot of a private aircraft is responsible for the APIS transmission, he or she is not required to be the person who submits the manifest. APIS compliance can be achieved when the pilot, or his designee, transmits the APIS manifest to CBP.

A pilot can designate anyone to submit the APIS manifest for a flight; for example a family member or friend, or even a CBP-approved service provider. A list of CBP-approved service providers can be found at http://www.cbp.gov/linkhandler/cgov/travel/pleasure_boats/private_flyers/prvt_air.ctt/prvt_air.pdf.

We hope this information is helpful. If you have any questions or concerns, or suggestions for newsletter content, please contact Private.Aircraft.Support@DHS.gov.

Thank you for your continued compliance.

Sun N Fun

This year Sun N Fun is a bit early. It starts on Tuesday 29 and runs through Sunday April 3rd. On Thursday March 31, there will be a WASP luncheon for $18.00/person. This year, the ladies, who help with this, are asking for donations for the WASPs to eat lunch. If you can, please donate $18.00 for one of these great ladies to have lunch. For donations contact Nancy Wright: 122 Highland Rd. Tarpon Springs, FL 34689 Phone:727 946 1050.

Also, these great ladies (the WASPs) stay in a nearby hotel, during SunNFun week. They are retired and on limited incomes, so if you or your chapter would be willing to donate some funds to defray that expense, contact Susan King: Susan@wingsofdreams.org.

Susan is also looking for female pilots to ferry the WASPs to Sun N Fun, on Monday 28, and return them to their home airport Sunday evening 3 April. If you and your plane are available for any ferrying run, please let Susan know. We have 8 WASPs, so far, committed to coming.

She is an accomplished Elementary Music Educator in Manatee County, a long-distance cyclist, and triathlete but felt, in the summer of 2009, she needed a new challenge. She has been around aviation her entire life. Both parents are private pilots and her brother is the owner of Southern Air Services and is an aerial applicator. She enjoys flying the family's beautiful Cherokee 140 out of Wauchula Airport. She wishes to thank her parents and brother for their constant support and encouragement, her instructor Melinda for challenging her, and her 99s chapter for continuing to inspire her.

Carolinas Chapter

This month in the Pine Straw magazine, Eileen Malan, Barbara Harris-Para, and Beverly Mirman were featured in an article about "Queens of the Air". The URL for this article is:

<http://viewer.zmags.com/publication/4e6bc16c#/4e6bc16c/66>

Barbara began flying because she was afraid of heights, Eileen Malan flew because her brothers did, and when it was announced she was flying overhead, her mother fainted. Beverly began the idea of flying when she had her first date with her now husband, Chip.

CONGRATULATIONS ladies!

TWO SECTIONS---ONE HEART:
The Heart of Acadiana

Experience a unique part of Louisiana - Lafayette, the heart of Acadiana. The region is named for the French-speaking Acadians who settled the area after being expelled from Nova Scotia for refusing to swear allegiance to the British King. Known as Cajuns, the people have enriched Louisiana with their music, food, and joie de vie- joy of life! You will also learn about Louisiana's part in shaping the early days of aviation and the important role that aviation plays in supporting our nation's oil industry. Points of interest include Randols, where you will hear authentic Cajun music and have a chance to learn the Cajun two-step, and Vermilionville, called the Cajun Williamsburg. Our Friday tour offers some "lagniappe" (lan-yap) or a little something extra to spice up your taste of Louisiana!

Step into Vermilionville and "two-step" back in time. Our beautiful village, nestled on the banks of the Bayou Vermilion, authentically recreates life in Southwest Louisiana between 1765 and 1890. Tour our 19 structures, including six restored original homes, which are filled with artifacts and living history. In many of our homes, you can visit with local artisans or musicians. They will be eager to share their music, traditions and stories with you.

Food

Ça c'est bon! - That's Cajun and Creole French for "it's good!" And there's nothing quite as good as authentic Cajun and Creole cuisine. Let the friendly staff at La Cuisine de Maman, Vermilionville's restaurant, whip up a home-style meal for you. Plus, starting in January 2008, you can learn how to prepare these delicious regional dishes yourself in our cooking classes. Call ahead, 866-99-BAYOU, to guarantee your spot.

Festivities

Cajun, Zydeco and Creole music don't miss a beat here. Whether it is a Sunday band, a Saturday jam or a musician playing in the village, music is an integral part of the Vermilionville experience. And the festivities don't stop there! Vermilionville creates dynamic programming throughout the year to bring history to life. From traditional Mardi Gras runs to festivals, we always find ways to "pass a good time."
